

Perrysburg Musical Theatre

January 30, 2011

Give a salute to “ALL HANDS ON DECK”! The Perrysburg Musical Theatre recently produced Jody Madaras’s new musical, and boy, the eager crowd couldn’t get enough! Nostalgia set in as the four performers crooned away, and everyone was transported back to 1942. With tears in their eyes, patrons exclaimed, “Now I can die happy, as I have heard those songs once again!”

With songs like “Chattanooga Choo Choo” and “The Pennsylvania Polka”, folks couldn’t stop themselves from singing along. The four part harmonies, executed perfectly by the cast in songs such as “Rosie the Riveter”, “Sentimental Journey” and “I’ll Never Smile Again” were reminiscent of the old radio shows, endeared by servicemen all over the world.

We couldn’t have been happier with the performance; and the crowd was thrilled. Many wanted to return the next day! Others asked, “When is the show returning?” It certainly was the bright spot of January here in Perrysburg!

See you at the Theatre!
